

I have had the pleasure of being involved with the South Central Regional Music Conference every year since its inception. Building a meaningful, lasting conference is a major undertaking, and the SCRMC made its presence known right from the beginning. The honor ensembles are of high quality and standard, attracting talented musicians and exceptional clinicians. The Pre-Festival adjudication affords groups the chance to be heard, critiqued, and cliniced at a time when ensembles most appreciate an honest appraisal of their efforts. Mark Walker and his associates have created a worthy conference for students and directors.
